OLD IMPERIAL HOTEL, TOKIO, BURNS; LOSS ¥4,000,000

Contractor For New Structure Perishes In Flames

HANGS TO LADDER

Members Of Prince's Party Lose Baggage

(China Press Service)

Tokio, April 16.—Fire today destroyed the old Imperial Hotel and threatened the new structure whose contractor, Mr. F. Moeller, perished in the flames despite a thrilling attempt at rescue.

The loss is estimated at Yen 4,000,000, but had the new structure also burned, it would have added some Yen 8,000,000 to the total.

Owing to the big garden party in honor of the Prince of Wales, the hotel practically was deserted and so far as is now known, Mr. Moeller is the only foreigner to have perished, although many servants are missing and their fate will remain unknown until the management has finished checking the staff.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, April 16.—Mr. F. Moeller contractor for the hotel building, attempted to escape by the roof. The firemen placed a ladder in an attempt to rescue Mr. Moeller, who, on reaching it, fell but managed to grasp a rung. The flames enveloped him. The hose-men played a stream of water on him but this was futile. Mr. Moeller fell through the flames on to the ground.

The blaze broke out at 3.10 p.m. and rapidly spread. The flames, swept by a fierce wind, soon enveloped the annex and the main building, endangering a beautiful new structure under construction, costing 7,000,000 yen. The firemen were powerless.

The damage up to the present is estimated at 4,000,000 yen. It is not known whether any of the guests at the hotel perished.

At four o'clock the old hotel, with a capacity of 300 guests, was completely gutted. Among the guests at the hotel were some 20 or 30 of the Prince of Wales's suite and a number of officers of H. M. S. Renown, who were attending the Imperial Garden Party.

At the time of the outbreak, the Prince of Wales had just entered Shinjuku Gardens with the Prince Regent and the Empress. Some 3,000 people had been invited to the garden party. The Gardens are three miles from Tokio and consequently nothing was known until the return to the city.

The members of His Royal Highness' Staff and the officers of the Renown who were staying at the hotel lost their entire kit. All the newspaper representatives and photographers attached to the Staff, except Sir Herbert Russell (Reuter's special correspondent), also lost everything.

3,000 MILL MEN OUT ON STRIKE FOR HIGHER PAY

Over 3,000 employes of the Nikka mill of the Japan-China Cotton Manufacturing Company, Pootung, are on strike, demanding an increase in wages.

The mill workers went out Sunday night after presenting demands for a twenty percent raise, which demand was not met by the employers. The 3,000 constitute the night shift of the mill staff.

Negotiations were opened between employers and employes yesterday and it is believed that the matter will be satisfactorily adjusted.

YOUNG RUSSIAN GIRL IS SUICIDE, TAKING POISON

Dora Maskalenko Dies At General Hospital; Hold Inquest Today

A twenty-three year old Russian girl, Dora Maskalenko, 7 Jukong Road, died of poisoning at the General Hospital early yesterday morning. Suicide is the evident cause of death, two empty phials labelled "veronal" being found on a table near her bed in the Jukong Road boarding house.

The girl returned to the boarding house at 7 o'clock Sunday evening, according to reports received by the police, and told the Chinese boy that she did not wish to be disturbed in the morning as she was tired and wanted to sleep a long time. When she did not appear for dinner other boarders went to call her and she was found lying across the bed, evidently drugged. The North Szechuen Road police station was notified and the victim was rushed to hospital, where efforts to save her life failed.

An inquest into the circumstances surrounding the death will be held by the Mixed Court officials today.

STEAMER CATHAY BACK IN PORT TO BE RE-CHRISTENED

First Of Shanghai-Built Vessel Returns On Round-The-World Voyage

Heroine of China shipbuilding romance, the steamer Cathay, constructed in Shanghai for the United States Shipping Board and later bought over, with her three sister ships, by the Robert Dollar Company, is back in the port of her birth, where she will be re-christened and sent on in an around-the-world cruise in the Dollar company's service.

The Cathay was the last of the 10,500-ton quartette of ships built at the Kiangnan Docks here and is the first to make Shanghai after going into the service of her new owners. She came into port on Sunday and will remain here until Saturday.

During the Cathay's stay in Shanghai a re-christening ceremony will be staged, which will change the ship's original name to the "Diana Dollar."

The Cathay is making her world-encircling trip under the guidance of Captain F. C. Anderson, who has skippered to the United States each of the four boats built for the Shipping Board here—the Celestial Mandarin, Oriental and Cathay.

The four boats were bought by the Dollar Company several months ago and it is announced that all of them will be placed on the round-the-world run by the company. The Diana Dollar will leave here for Hongkong and Manila, proceeding then to Singapore and on through Suez, touching at European ports and crossing the Atlantic to New York, from which port she will steam on to the Panama Canal and back to her home port of San Francisco. The other three ships will follow the same itinerary.

The vessel on her trip across the Pacific made an average of 13 knots and in every way bore out the Shipping Board experts' verdict, in which they pronounced the China-built ships to be the best turned out for the Shipping Board of all the many ships ordered for construction during the war.

MUNICIPALITY OF TOKIO HOST TO PRINCE AT MANY FETES

Whole Series Of Demonstrations Carried Out

THEATER PARTY

Address Of Welcome In Beautiful Casket

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, April 17.—The municipality of Tokio is taking a prominent part in the welcome that is being extended to the British Prince.

With the Mayor, H. E. Baron Goto at their head, the municipal authorities have worked out a series of demonstrations and entertainments which are planned to supplement the reception by the Imperial Court and the Government and which evidence the pleasure and satisfaction felt by the people of Japan in having His Royal Highness as their guest.

Among other things, the city is responsible for the elaborate decorations that have transformed the approaches and the platforms of the Tokio Central Station.

The Union Jacks that are so much in evidence all over the city and at every gateway were all made under the direct supervision of the municipality, and sold at reasonable prices at the city markets.

At the instance of the authorities, too, pride of place along the Prince's route to and from the Palace is being given to the school-children who with the flags of the two nations in their hands have thus had a unique opportunity of welcoming the Royal visitor. For weeks past these children have been taught the words of "God Save the King" and during the Prince's stay in the capital no air has been more popular than this.

THEATER PARTY

But the culminating point of the city's reception was reached tonight when His Royal Highness was the guest of honor at a reception and theatrical performance given at the Imperial Theater by the Mayor and Municipal Council.

On His Royal Highness' arrival, he was presented with an address of welcome by the Mayor.

The address was inscribed on parchment specially illuminated with a flower and bird (hanadori) design on gold ground and enclosed in a cloisonne casket.

The casket was designed by Professor Yoshii Shimada of the Tokio Fine Arts School and executed by Mr. Jyubei Ando, a famous cloisonne worker of Nagoya. It is 14.3 inches in length, 5.9 inches in width and 9.5 inches in height, and rests on a stand of the same workmanship 15.5 inches in length.

On a gold ground with gold borders it carries a design of phoenixes and chrysanthemums in ruby and sapphire colors, while the central feature of the lid is the Royal Coat of Arms also executed in cloisonne work.

Following the official reception, the Royal party was conducted to a specially constructed box in the body of the theater, and there witnessed a unique and elaborately staged series of plays, performed by the finest exponents of the different schools of acting in the country.

COLORFUL FUNCTION

The function was one of the most magnificent ever seen in Tokio, the setting both on the stage and in the auditorium being exceptionally brilliant.

Other celebrations in honor of the British Prince planned by the municipal authorities are a massed band concert in Hibiya Park in which the British Naval Band will participate with the Japanese Naval and Military Bands, and an exhibition at Uyeno of Ukiyoe paintings which include original drawings, prints and book illustrations of famous Ukiyoe masters.

This Is The Age Of The Radio Rage

General Pershing listens in. Broadcasting law by radio.

Miss Bender has purse radio

THE "wireless bug" has made its way throughout the United States. In every large city, in every small village, radio has become the thing of the day. Scientists, students, officials and public men are imbued with a desire to "listen in."

In this group of pictures you see a variety of students. General Pershing is shown taking a message from "the air." In the picture at the left you see Miss Mathilda Bender, of New York, demonstrating her pocket radio-phone, which she carries in her purse.

The group of girls are students of a Chicago school learning wireless in the classroom. So popular has become the radio fad that many schools are following the lead taken by Chicago.

SIR ROSS SMITH OUT OF PRACTICE, CORONER FINDS

Noted Flier Had Been Busy With Plans For Trip

(Reuter's Service)

London, April 15.—At the inquest on Sir Ross Smith and Lieutenant Bennett at Weybridge, Sir Keith Smith said that his brother had been occupied in organising his world trip and had not flown much recently.

Mr. Muller, the Brooklands Superintendent of Vickers, said that the machine was similar to those supplied to the British, Canadian, Japanese and Dutch Governments and was in complete flying trim. He said that there was no defect anywhere in the actual controlling parts and that they were absolutely intact after the accident.

Continuing, he said that in the preliminary flight the machine was piloted by Capt. Cockrell, a Vickers pilot, and he was accompanied by Sir Ross Smith and that this was the machine's first flight. The machine was not examined when they descended because the engines were running, Sir Ross Smith merely replaced Capt. Cockrell at the controls.

Captain Cockrell testified that he had seen the construction of the machine throughout and that it was perfect in every respect.

Medical evidence showed that in both cases death was instantaneous and a verdict of death from misadventure was returned.

PUBLISHERS MAKE FINAL EFFORT TO DEFEAT BYE-LAW

Chinese Organisations Ask Ratepayers To Vote Down Measure

The Chinese Publishers' Guild, the Chinese Publishers' Association, the Association of Chinese Newspapers of Shanghai, the Shanghai Publishers' Union and the Publication Department of the National Committee of the Y.M.C.A. of China have addressed another appeal to the public of Shanghai for support toward defeating the proposed printed matter law which will come before the special meeting of ratepayers tomorrow.

The appeal is in the nature of a challenge of the correctness of the explanations of the Municipal Council in interpreting in the way it did the meaning of the bye-law in a minute published in the Municipal Gazette of April 13. The Chinese organisations contend that the bye-law as drafted does not confine registration to professional printers and they reinforce their own interpretation by citing the actual text of the bye-law, which reads "any person who shall print or publish or cause to be printed or published" .....must register with his Consul and otherwise with the Municipal Council." The Chinese opposers of the bye-law insist that it is "unnecessary and vexatious, and illegal and wrong." The appeal ends with the declaration that the bye-law will be opposed by all and every legitimate means and methods of constitutional opposition and passive resistance."

It is understood that an organised effort is being made to enlist the individual support of the foreign ratepayers to veto the bye-law in its present form.

WAICHIAOPU PROTESTS

Correspondence published yesterday by the Municipal Council tells of eleventh hour efforts made by the Bureau of Foreign Affairs here to forestall the passage by the ratepayers meeting tomorrow of the printed matter bye-law and the resolution for increasing wharfage dues.

The Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, writing to the Senior Consul, states that he has been requested by the Waichiaopu to lodge strenuous protest to the submission of the printed matter bye-law, and as a consequence of letters from the Chinese Chamber of Commerce and other Chinese commercial bodies he protests also to the bringing forward of the resolution to authorise increase of the wharfage dues.

The Senior Consul's reply defends the Council's stand, pointing out that the growth of the Settlement has necessitated increased revenue for its administration and stating that any oppressive enforcement of the printed matter bye-law would certainly meet with protest from the Consular Body.

DEMANDS OF RUSS ENVOYS JOLT GENOA CONFERENCE

Ask Fifty Billion Roubles As "Damages"

NEAR DEADLOCK

French Say Lloyd George Has Sent Ultimatum

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, April 16.—Genoa despatches state that while recognising Russia's pre-war debts the Soviets, by the simple process of submitting a counter-claim, have not only wiped out this amount but shown the Allies to be their debtors.

This astounding claim was submitted by M. Litvinoff at the first meeting of the Russian and Allied experts. It is based on damages alleged to have been sustained in consequence of anti-Soviet expeditions supported by the Allies and also the loss of Bessarabia, aggregating 50,000,000,000 gold roubles. Subsequently M. Litvinoff expressed the Soviet's readiness to make concessions.

When the matter was later discussed with the Allied delegates, Mr. Lloyd George told the Russians that their claim was excessive, inadmissible and contrary to all notion of justice and asked the Soviet delegates if they had come all the way to Genoa to spring this surprise. The British Premier repudiated the Allies' responsibility in connection with the claim.

Mr. Lloyd George finally indicated the questions in which connection it was possible for the Allies to make concessions and said that if the Soviet's reply were unequivocal the Allies would adhere to the terms of the London experts' report providing for a moratorium regarding Russia's debts. He affirmed that if the reply were unfavorable the Conference would have no further object for Russia.

RUSSIANS WITHDRAW

After M. Chicherin had replied somewhat irreconcilably, the Russians withdrew and the Allied delegates deliberated.

It is understood that they insist on a definite reply regarding acceptance of the Cannes resolutions, after a time given in which to communicate with Moscow.

Genoa, April 15.—The French report that Mr. Lloyd George has issued an ultimatum to the Russians has not up to the present been confirmed, but messages from Genoa indicate that the Russians are raising great difficulties as regards the London Memorandum.

The informal discussions at Mr. Lloyd George's villa yesterday lasted nine hours, and the Russians, who were not accompanied by any first class economic experts, laboriously strove to digest the memorandum, drafting amendments and protests and generally preparing to put up a stiff fight when the subcommittee of eleven reassembles.

An incident which was much commented upon yesterday was when Mr. Lloyd George invited the delegates including the Russians to lunch. M. Barthou said he had a previous appointment and departed, returning an hour later to resume the conversations.

IMPORTANT MEETING

The Allied and Russian experts are discussing the memorandum today and will report to the delegates at Mr. Lloyd George's villa this afternoon. This meeting is expected to decide the Russian question.

Genoa, April 15.—The Sub-Committee of the Economic Commission began the study of the economic part of the London Memorandum today. The amendment of a Japanese delegate was adopted that the economic conventions drawn up for European States should apply to non-European States.

Genoa, April 15.—Informal conversations between the British, French, Italian, Belgian and Russian delegates continued at Mr. Lloyd George's villa today.

The Allied representatives were most impressed by M. Chicherin and Krassin's expositions of the situation in Russia but the Allies refused to budge on the question of Russia's recognition of her debts. They intimated their readiness to continue the conference without Russia.

A deadlock seemed to be reached on this question and the claim for compensation for damage by the counter-revolutionary troops when the Russian delegate made proposals which enabled the conversations to proceed.

DINES RUSSIANS

London, April 15.—The Genoa correspondent of the Times states that after the informal meeting of the delegates to consider the report on the London Memorandum by the experts, Mr. Lloyd George invited the delegates to luncheon but they all declined with the exception of the Russians and that the fact was much commented upon.

While the French correspondents at Genoa, as exemplified by an earlier message, assert that the Russians are making exaggerated claims and are displaying an irreconcilable attitude, Reuter's Genoa correspondent is taking a more hopeful view and says that the discussions have undoubtedly opened the eyes of the Russians.

No inauperable difficulties have arisen up to the present. The view of the Allies is that they cannot press for immediate payment of pre-war or war debts but that they must have recognition and regard for the restitution of private property.

The Allies insist on the principle that value given must be restored but recognise the practical difficulties in connection therewith.

PEKING'S AERO SERVICE AGAIN IN OPERATION

Trial Flights Made To Tientsin —Regular Trips Planned

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, April 14.—The Peking Aviation Department has been developing plans for the summer season which include the resumption of the regular service to Peitaho, trips to the Great Wall and the Ming Tombs and the flights about Peking. Great attention has been given perfecting the organisation at Nan Yuan field and several trial flights have been made to various parts of the country to aid the instruction of the pilots in training and to test out thoroughly each machine which will be used for the passenger service.

On Saturday last a trip was made to Tientsin and back to give encouragement to the Industrial Exhibition which was being held there. One of the large Vickers-Vimy planes was used and fifteen passengers in all were carried, the trip down was made in forty minutes in spite of a very high wind which was blowing.

The city of Tientsin was circled several times the machine descending from an altitude of five to two thousand feet. The trip back was made in about fifty minutes. On the return trip the wind had increased to a gale and the large machine rocked considerably although never at any time losing the stability for which the model is noted. Under favorable conditions the trip to Tientsin may be made in thirty minutes.

The fastest trip on record in the department is a voyage last year from Peking to Tsinanfu which was made in a little less than two hours thanks to a gale in the rear.

The Peking Aviation Department is considered to be one of the most efficient in the world, the foreign pilots having been especially selected from France, England and America. It is planned to open up another field this summer at Ching Ho just North of Peking.

view of the Imperial Guard Division.

FINE WEATHER

The morning was gloriously fine after the previous day's downpour and the air was so clear that Mount Fuji, more than a hundred miles away, was visible in the dim violet shadow. At ten o'clock the Prince of Wales, mounted upon a beautiful piebald charger which was presented to the Crown Prince by the Prefecture of Kagoshima three years ago, rode to the Yoyogi parade ground accompanied by the Prince Regent and large and brilliant staffs.

An Imperial Guard Review was never before attended by staff officers below the rank of Lieutenant Colonel, but on this occasion every British Officer attached to the Embassy and even language students were invited to be present. The Foreign attaches made bright splashes of color amid the general monotony of khaki.

The troops, all in field service uniform with khaki tunics, trousers and puttees and red banded caps and knapsacks were drawn up on three sides of the square. On the Prince's arrival the massed bands, in red and blue uniforms, played God Save the King, whilst regimental trumpeters in succession sounded the sonorous "Kimigayo" or Reign of the Emperor, the national air of Japan.

It is estimated that more than ten thousand troops were present, consisting of four infantry regiments each of three battalions, a cavalry regiment, six field batteries and engineers and transport units. The parade was a wonderfully fine spectacle, the appearance of the flower of the Japanese Army being strikingly impressive.

SEES REVIEW

After riding round the square the Prince of Wales and the Prince Regent took up their posts at the saluting base and the march past which lasted for more than half an hour began. The infantry went past in column of companies marching in a semi goose step and rythmically swinging their left arms straight out from the shoulders in time to the very inspiring strains of the Imperial Guard Review March.

At the head of each regiment the battle colors were borne, in each case nothing remaining of the war worn flags but the border fringes.

Both the Prince of Wales and the Prince Regent took the salute, which was given by officers with swords in two flashing movements and by other ranks with eyes right. The guns trotted past and the Imperial Guard Lancers went by at the canter, their magnificent horses compelling unanimous admiration.

The whole parade was under the command of Lieut. General Nakashima of the Imperial Guard Division who received warm congratulations from the Prince of Wales upon the splendid bearing and faultless precision of the evolutions of his troops. There was a large gathering of European officers and civilians in the grand stand erected at the back of the saluting base.

ROUTE THRONGED

Both coming and returning along the crowded route between Akasaka Palace and the parade ground the Prince of Wales received a tremendous ovation, it being remarked that he is today the most popular General in the Japanese Army.

Tokio, April 16.—The Prince of Wales today at 3 p.m. attended an Imperial cherry-party at the Imperial Garden at Shinjiku held under the auspices of the Royal Family. At the party, His Royal Highness together with Her Majesty the Empress and the Crown Prince Regent received in audience foreign chiefs of missions and high civil and military officers of all Powers.

After inspecting the charming scenery and cherry blossoms of the Garden, the Prince of Wales with the Crown Prince Regent returned to the Akasaka Detached Palace at 4 o'clock. The crews of H. M. S. S. the Renown and the Durban were all invited to view the gardens.

Tokio, April 16.—Today at 1 p.m. at the Akasaka Detached Palace, the Prince of Wales received in audience sixty-two representatives of Japanese newspapers and news agencies as well as nine foreign journalists. He shook hands with them one by one and told them that he was glad to have had an opportunity of interviewing the representative journalists of Tokio.

Tokio, April 16.—The Prince of Wales this evening at 7 o'clock attended a dinner-party and reception given in his honor at the official residence of the Premier Viscount Takahashi, at which the Premier presented an address of welcome to the Prince of Wales, the gist of which is as follows:

"I feel assured that the visit to our country of the Prince of Wales goes a long way towards further tightening the friendly and close ties which have for many years past combined the two Empires. The mutual confidence and interdependence demonstrated in their co-operative endeavors during the Great War in the cause of justice and world peace is being guaranteed more firmly than ever as the peoples of the two countries deepen their individual friendship.

"LEAP WITH JOY"

"The present visit to Japan of the Prince of Wales, which is, it may be said, an illustrious symbol of the friendly feelings as well as a proof of the harmonious concert existing between Great Britain and Japan, makes the Government and the people of Japan leap with joy."

In reply to the foregoing, the Prince of Wales said:

"I feel confident that as the mutual understanding and sympathy grow with years between the two countries, their friendly relations are sure to become more intimate. Whatever changes may take place in politics or society in future, the peoples of the two countries will, I am sure, thicken the ever close relations in the cause of civilisation and humanity."

After the dinner-party was over, the Prince of Wales saw with keen interest curious tricks performed by Miss Tenkatsu and other entertainments and then His Royal Highness returned to the Akasaka Detached Palace.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, April 17.—The 'Duck Hunt' of Japan is a misnomer. It is, in fact, the Royal sport of Duck "netting," and good sport it is provided always that the wild fowl in the bays are plentiful, the weather propitious and the company endowed with that spirit of sportsmen which on the occasion of the initiation of the Prince of Wales into its mysteries is a foregone conclusion.

'Kamo gari' is the Japanese name for the "duck hunt." Kamo, duck, and kari, the chase of game whether furred or feathered. It came into vogue during the time of the Tokugawa Shogunate. Only the Shogun, with the great Daimyo, were permitted to indulge in it. Even in these days of wider latitude when the masses claim equal privileges, the Kamo gari is confined practically to the highest class in the land.

The Imperial Duck Hunt is one of the great annual functions to which only members of the Diplomatic Corps and a few favored residents holding high decorations are invited.

The Hama Detached Palace, within the city limits, is the main and largest duck preserve used for this purpose and it is here that the Prince of Wales and his suite will be entertained today. The hunting ground is upon the low lying foreshore of the Bay of Tokio where the wild fowl in tens of thousands gather during the season. April is a little late, perhaps, but there is every reason to believe that the duck have remained in sufficient numbers to give the Prince a reasonable day's sport.

From the inlet into the marsh, canals are dug, some four feet wide and five feet deep with banks on either side. Tame decoy duck are used to lure the wild teal or mallard to the mouths of these canals. Ground bait is also used in quantity.

The sportsmen are armed with nets resembling in shape those used for catching butterflies, or for landing larger fish, but the nets are however much wider and deeper and the wooden handles longer.

The hunters line the dykes at intervals on either side keeping well concealed and absolutely silent behind the banks. The duck lured by the decoys and food crowd up the narrow channels and at a given signal entrances are closed, the hunters rise and the attendants raise a shout. The duck, within the narrow confines of the ditches rise slowly at first, with a great splash, flutter and squawk. Then the fun becomes fast and furious. The hunters dash for the duck and the duck for freedom. Anything may happen in the excitement. It is related that on one occasion a distinguished attache of a foreign Legation netted a lady of the Corps, while on another occasion a British Admiral over-reached and fell into the water. In the good season, with plenty of birds, the literal bag is sometimes very large.

One of the most interesting features of the duck hunt is an exhibition of falconry, for when the duck escapes the nets and rises to circle, the falcon carried by attendants are released and rising above their prey swoop and "strike" with wonderful accuracy.

At the Palace is an Imperial lodge of resting-place where the hunters gather and where after today's morning sport is over and before the second "run" takes place a luncheon will be served.

Throughout the whole the most careful ceremony is observed, to be forgotten, it is true, at times when the chase is at its most exciting stage. The non-participant has perhaps the best of it, for the scene is full of action on land and in the air while the drive is on. Then, at times, official dignity is forgotten and the humanities have full play.

ARMED ROBBERS SHOOT CHINESE ON HANKOW ROAD

Armed thugs shot another Chinese last night in an attempted robbery on Hankow Road.

The victim was riding in a ricsha along Hankow Road when three men stopped the vehicle and demanded the rider's valuables. He resisted and one of the men who was armed with a pistol fired three shots, each of which took effect. The robbers then fled without obtaining anything. The wounded man was taken to Shantung Road Hospital where his condition was pronounced as serious.

Indo-China First At French Exhibit

(Reuter's Service)

Marseilles, April 16.—Spectacularly, the Indo-China section unquestionably takes first place in the great French Colonial Exhibition, which was opened by the Minister of the Colonies today. It occupies 10,000 square yards and is the principal attraction of the Exhibition.

A faithful reproduction is presented of the Temple of Angkor with its spires mirrored in the waters of the Sacred Lake.

The papers describe it as a monument worthy of a great Colony, of which they simultaneously recall its astonishing past and intensely active present.

FOR REMOVING SUPERFLUOUS HAIR.

No woman who has any sense of beauty will deny that superfluous hair is one of the greatest drawbacks to good looks.

Realising this, women of all times have put themselves to any expense, and have endured considerable pain and discomfort in order to rid themselves of this great disfigurement.

Nowadays electrolysis is a prevalent "cure" for this evil, but in reality this process involves a great deal of unnecessary expense, waste of time and pain.

The simplest quickest, and most effective treatment can easily be carried out by any sufferer, in the privacy of her home. This is the recipe:

Procure about 1 oz. powdered pheminol from your chemist; mix a sufficient quantity with a few drops of water into a stiff paste. Apply this carefully and thoroughly to the hair you wish to remove, and allow the paste to dry. In a few minutes it can be gently scraped away. The skin is left absolutely free from hair, and should then be carefully washed in warm water, and if desired, lightly dusted with a little talcum powder. (Advt.)

Allies Against Greek Evacuation

(Reuter's Service)

Constantinople, April 17.—The Allies have informed the Angora Government that they cannot consent to the immediate Greek evacuation of Anatolia as an armistice condition and point out the difficulties of acceding to such a demand. The Allies however are prepared to make the evacuation begin directly the Kemalists accept the peace terms as a whole.

Discovered Too Late

TOO often the failure of men to provide for their families is not discovered till their death. Property may not be fully paid for, debts may have accumulated, titles may be questionable, wills may be defective, or savings be inadequate. The consequences of such failures are often so serious that it is hard to see how men can be willing to take any chances.

IN such an important matter as this too great care cannot be exercised. The duty is one that a husband and father should be glad to perform—and to be sure that he had performed it.

THE one sure means for meeting this duty is life insurance. It is within reach of even moderate incomes. There is no other safe way whereby a man, for a small investment, can immediately create an estate that will fully protect his family.

Chang Tso-lin Intimates He Will Carry War To Wu

A note of warning against further movement of troops into prohibited areas was addressed to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs on Saturday by the Doyen of the Peking Diplomatic Corps. The note considers the stationing of troops in Tangkou and Tientsin as acts of violation against the stipulations of the 1901 treaty as well as the resolution on Chinese disarmament passed by the Washington Conference.

The action would effect the national status of China, the note added. The minister, Dr. W. W. Yen, is in Western Hills. The note has been circulated to Paotingfu and Mukden by the Vice-minister of Foreign Affairs, Shen Jui-lin.

General Wu Pei-fu has arrived in Paotingfu to ascertain the attitude of Tuchun Tsao Kun of Chihli in connection with the present crisis. Paotungfu to ascertain the attitude Mukden-Loyang conflict has been formulated by President Hsu Shih-chang, according to the Dah Tong News Bureau. Three former political leaders are being requested to take part. They are Generals Wang Shih-chen and Tuan Chi-jui, ex-premiers, and former President Li Yuan-hung.

The chief executive states that he will resign from his own office if mediation fails. However, Wang, Tuan and Li have unofficially declined to accept the offer and Hsu is very pessimistic over the entire situation.

The attempt of Chin Yung-peng, ex-premier, to mediate has been frustrated by Chang Tso-lin, who brands Chin as the cause of the entire conflict because the latter had during his administration supplied no less than $2,000,000 worth of firearms purchased from Italian sources to Wu Pei-fu. Chin has consequently abandoned his trip.

The clash between Chang and Wu now hinges in a great measure on the attitude of Shantung and Honan. If the Mukden forces succeed in reaching Hsuchowfu, Kiangsu, the Shantung militarists are sure to side with them. Wu Pei-fu is now concentrating his entire forces on Chengchow, Honan, in order to prevent the Mukden army from entering Honan by way of the Lunghai Railway.

The withdrawal of the Chihli Army from Machang and Chwangchow, Chihli, which are being occupied by the Mukden forces are interpreted by Chinese military experts as strategy. Wu plans to march his crack troops from Paotingfu to seize Shinhai and Liangwanchwang of Chihli and wedge into the expedition of the Fengtien Army along the Tientsin-Pukow Railway. He expects to have assistance from Shantung and Honan in his operations.

Wu's military plans are to have Tuchun Feng Yu-hsiang defend Tungkwan, on the Honan-Shensi border and Loyang, Honan; Tuchun Hsiao Yao-nan and General Wang Chen-ping to guard the Peking-Hankow Railway and order the 24th division under Chang Fu-lai as well as the Shantung and Honan forces to patrol the Lunghai and Tientsin-Pukow lines as a precautionary measure. He himself will head the third division and several mixed brigades for actual military operation.

Premier Chow Tze-chi is in Tientsin consulting Liang Shih-yi, who is reported to be willing to cancel his leave of absence. Following the removal of the families of the Tsao brothers from Tientsin, rumors for a serious combat are current. Large numbers of residents are leaving the city.

From Hankow, it is learned that Dame Rumor has also been very active despite the proclamations of the local authorities.

(China Press Service)

Mukden, April 17.—In an interview given by General Chang Tso-lin today to Miss Edna Lee Booker, correspondent of the International News Service, he stated that he was massing troops in the vicinity of Tientsin to protect a unification of China conference which he expects will be held there within the next two months.

"What about Wu Pei-fu," he was asked.

"If Wu Pei-fu wants to attend to the conference, he can come," said General Chang, "but if he persists in his obstructive attitude, he will be warred against most energetically."

This aggressive attitude prevails throughout the Mukden forces, and in a harangue given the departing soldiers today, General Chang's son told them they must be ready to die if necessary.

Chang Tso-lin really is taking the field in force, the field wireless outfits and the camel machine-gun squads departing today, while the scouting airplanes are expected to follow immediately.

Peking, April 17.—It is becoming apparent that Chang Tso-lin cannot depend on the neutrality of Tsao Kun and the Chihli forces. Friction is developing along the Tientsin-Pukow railway in Shangtung where a clash took place Saturday, between the opposing forces, the Techow arsenal falling into the hands of Chang Tso-lin's forces.

This warlike development in which he was vitally concerned, has prevented Chang from taking advantage of the breach that appeared to have opened between Wu Pei-fu and Chao Ti, tuchun of Honan.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, April 14.—The movements of Chihli and Fengtien troops in the direction of Peking continue. No other developments are reported today. The 28th Division of Fengtien troops is reported to have left Jehol and to be marching in the direction of Tientsin, but it would surprise no one if they turned towards Peking on reaching Tungchow.

A party of General Wu Pei-fu's men is reported to have reached Changsintien and to be preparing for the arrival there of larger bodies. Most of General Wu's forces, however, are being concentrated at the Yellow River. The Yochow forces are being transferred to the North by rail.

General Tsao Kun's troops at Techow, Shantung, are said to have evacuated that important point, leaving only a few men to hand over the arsenal to Fengtien troops on their arrival. General Tsao's men at Machang are also said to have been withdrawn to Paotingfu, but apparently the Chihli troops at Tientsin have not been moved. The local military authorities are of opinion that there will be no danger of conflict while the Chihli troops remain at Tientsin, but that the withdrawal from there would indicate early hostilities.

That the objective of both the Fengtien and Chihli armies is Peking is now beginning to be believed among the Chinese. The large temple outside the Chouyangmen, the Tungyu Miao, is being prepared for Fengtien troops, and a party of Fengtien men have been stationed at Shangchiao, between Peking and Tungchow where the new wireless station has been erected by the Japanese.

MOVE TOWARD CAPITAL

Thus the movement of Fengtien troops appears to be in the direction of Peking from the North-East, as nearly as possible opposite to the approach of General Wu Pei-fu's forces.

Beyond the movements of these rival forces, however, there is nothing to indicate that the efforts of the peacemakers have entirely failed. Generals Chang Ching-hua (Independent), Pao Kwei-ching (Independent), Ching Hua (Independent) and Wang Chen-ping (Chihli) are almost frantically endeavoring to bring about an understanding between Chang Tso-lin and Wu Pei-fu.

The outcome seems now to rest with General Chang Tso-lin. It merely remains to be seen whether his intention to suppress General Wu can be taken literally, and if so whether the suppression will prove to be a two edged weapon equally dangerous to the wielder. While these important questions are still in the air the routine of official business is proceeding rather more smoothly.

Personal rivalries and intrigues appear for the moment to be forgotten in Peking. Mr. Chow Tze-chi is carrying on his new duties without hindrance or interference, but a general feeling of apprehension is now being manifested, to the prejudice of business of all descriptions.

Generals Hsiao Yao-nan (Tuchun of Hupeh), Chen Kuang-yuan (Tuchun of Kiangsi), Chi Hsieh-yuan (Tuchun of Kiangsu) and Admiral Tu Tsi-kwei (Commander of the Second Squadron on the Yangtsze) have sent telegrams of congratulations to Mr. Chow Tze-chi.

(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, April 16.—It is reported in Government circles that Chang Tso-lin has decided to come to Tientsin. If it be true, it is expected that Chang Tso-lin will interview Tsao Kun and Tuan with the object of issuing a circular telegram in joint names. It is problematical, however, that Tsao Kun will go to Tientsin, as it is feared that he will be forced to obey Chang's dictation.

Tsao Jui, Civil Governor of Chihli, has applied to President Hsu for a 20 days' leave of absence, during which time Liu Chang-yu will act as Civil Governor and peace in the province will be maintained by Yao Yi-tch.

WU LOVES?

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, April 13.—While the sudden activity of General Wu Pei-fu is partly explained by a telegram from Hankow information regarding recent developments in the region of Kaifengfu it is believed in Peking that the movement of General Wu's troops northward was only hastened by the action of General Chao Chieh.

General Wu Pei-fu has undoubtedly been preparing for counter moves to offset the positions of General Chang Tso-lin's men in Chihli. That General Wu had not taken quicker action is attributed to the fact that he was in a position to move more rapidly than the Fengtien people, and was, therefore, willing to wait and see where they would be sent before shifting his own men.

The Chinese press today speaks of the friction between General Wu and the Chao brothers as being due to a misunderstanding, which has since been cleared up, while the Yichun denies the reports in circulation yesterday that bad feeling had arisen between the Yichun and General Wu Pei-fu's troops. The Commandant of the Yichun in a circular telegram says that these reports were circulated by interested parties for political reasons.

In addition to the 30,000 men from Yochow, Hupeh, it is reported that the 11th Division of Chihli troops, which accompanied General Feng Yu-hsiang to Shensi, has been withdrawn by General Wu and has already arrived at Kuangyintang, Honan, while a brigade of the 20th Division (Chihli) is marching on Tungkuan, on the Honan-Shensi border.

CLASH CERTAIN

The new positions of the Chihli and Fengtien forces will not, however, bring them into close proximity, and need not affect the political situation. General Chang Tso-lin's adherents in Peking assert that there is no immediate danger of fighting, while admitting that a clash must come between the two great rivals sooner or later.

General Wu Pei-fu's people say that the recent hostility shown by General Chao Ti and the fresh distribution of the Fengtien forces made imperative for General Wu to recast the disposition of his own men and place himself in a position to meet any emergency. Recent arrivals from Honan tell of very complete preparations on the part of the Chihli troops and considerable keenness of all ranks of Wu Peifu's armies to meet the Fengtien men, and absolute confidence in the result.

Official circles in Peking still express confidence that hostilities will be avoided, but commercial circles are suffering with the apprehension usual in such circumstances. Generally speaking, however, there is very little excitement so far among the public.

(China Mail Service)

Peking, April 14.—From Chinese sources the supposedly confirmed report has been received that the Metropolitan authorities have ordered the censoring of letters at the Chienmen Post Office. Officers of the Peking Gendarmerie and the police are in charge and are inspecting any mail either outgoing or incoming which is suspected.

(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, April 15.—In an interview, General Chang Ching-hui is alleged to have made the following statement:

"I am in a position to stop the outbreak of hostilities with all my might. Really there is none in the Fengtien army, who can stand the command of the army, excepting myself and Chang Tso-hsiang. Such being the case, if I should not bear the brunt of the fighting, it would be almost impossible for Chang Tso-hsiang single-handed to take the sole command of the Fengtien army.

"From this it will be seen that hostilities will never be opened after all. I am now doing my best to induce Chang Tso-lin and Tsao Kun to meet in Tientsin with a view to dispelling the misunderstanding and this plan of mine will be realised before long."

SEES TRAP FOR TSAO

In this connection, a certain influential politician, belonging to the Chihli faction, states that the pacifism advocated by General Chang Ching-hui can not be trusted for Chang acting under secret order from Chang Tso-lin, is trying to lure Tsao Kun to Tientsin under that protext. Should Tsao Kun enter Tientsin, the politician adds, it is predicted that he will be immediately taken prisoner by Chang Tso-lin.

(China Press Service)

Peking, April 15.—With the object of rendering positive assistance to the movement on the part of the Fengtien troops, Yeh Kungchow is now in charge of the function of connecting the trains of both the Peking-Mukden and the Tientsin-Pukow lines which are at present transporting the Fengtien troops.

Peking, April 15.—A high official of the Government says that it is not yet ascertained as to whether or not General Tien Chung-yu, Tuchun of Shantung, will take the side of the Fengtien troops in the event of the opening of hostilities between the Chihli and Fengtien factions and General Tien, in consequence, is incurring great ill-feeling of the Fengtien faction.

Monarchist Comes To Hsuchow To Aid Fengtien's Drive

Chang Hsun Back In Anhui; Plans To Oust Kiangsu Tuchun, Report

General Chang Hsun, the monarchist, has arrived in Hsuchowfu, Kiangsu, to carry out the mission entrusted to him by Chang Tso-lin, the Mukden warlord, according to a private wire received here last night. Chang will transfer the An Wu Army, formerly his forces, to Hsuchow and when his military preparations are complete he will be appointed either as Inspector-general of the Yangtsze or Anhui Tuchun so that his influence may form a check against Chi Shih-yuan, the Kiangsu Tuchun.

On the other hand, Chang Yi-ling, formerly Minister of Education and now representing Wu Pei-fu, is agitating for a movement to be started in Kiangsu and Chekiang for the two provinces to stand neutral in case of an armed clash between Fengtien and Chihli.

Lu Yung-hsiang, the Chekiang Tuchun, is expected to side with Chang Hsun, if the latter decides to oust the Kiangsu Tuchun.

Semenoff Safe From Prosecution

(Reuter's Service)

New York, April 17.—The Federal District Attorney, in informing Senator Borah that neither the Federal State nor Military Courts could try M. Semenoff "for the murder of American soldiers in Siberia," says that if the American Army recognised M. Semenoff at the time of the alleged murders, the only appeal would have been to M. Semenoff's superiors there; if his army were not recognised the American military authorities had the right to capture and try and punish M. Semenoff then, but not now.

"LITTLE HSU'S" VIEW ON CHINA GIVEN TO ENVOY

Outlawed General Says He Still Has National Interest At Heart

The views of General Hsu Shu-cheng (Little Hsu) on the political situation and his attitude towards President Hsu Shih-chang were expressed in an interview with Mr. Yang Yung-hsiang, secretary of the Cabinet, who came down to Shanghai recently with the expressed purpose of calling on Hsu, after visiting Hangchow on an official mission.

In response to Yang's questions, Hsu stated that while he is still anxious to work for the salvation of the nation, he did not consider the present time quite opportune for him to move at all. He is resolved to remain inactive and stay out of the political arena for the time being.

As to his attitude towards the president, Hsu asserted that, personally, he was absolutely not in position to assist him while in his official capacity, he held no grudge against Old Hsu despite the treatment the chief executive handed down to him.

At the conclusion of the interview, Little Hsu asked Yang to convey his desire to his friends in Peking, including former Secretary of Cabinet Chang Chi-tang and others, to forget the animosity they had against each other and to co-operate in solving the national problems. A most amicable atmosphere prevailed during the conversation.

It is understood that Yang was secretly instructed by President Hsu to come to Shanghai and approach the former Anfu general for the interview.

ARTHUR GRIFFITH DEFIES ANTIS IN REPUBLICAN ARMY

Speaks To Big Crowd Without Interference

(Reuter's Service)

London, April 16.—A message from Carrick-on-Shannon says that Mr. Arthur Griffith defied the proclamation of the anti-Treaty section of the Irish Republican Army, prohibiting public meetings at Sligo. Guarded by armored-cars and Free State troops, Mr. Griffith today addressed a crowd without interruption.

Sligo had been previously isolated by mutinous I. R. A.'s, who seized the post-office, preventing telegraphing. Fire was exchanged by the opposing forces this morning, in which a Republican was killed and one Republican and one civilian slightly wounded.

London, April 15.—The seizure of the Law Courts at Dublin is regarded as a blow struck at the heart of orderly administration, which it is difficult for any government to tolerate. Lately it has been increasingly manifest that Mr. De Valera is no longer able to control a considerable part of the Republican section of the army, and the coup was the more remarkable in that it was executed while Mr. De Valera was carrying on peace negotiations with Mr. Michael Collins and Mr. Arthur Griffith.

The British and Free State troops in Dublin are being confined to barracks. The Central Telegraph office and other buildings are strongly guarded. The situation is tense.

London, April 17.—An Irish Republican Army communique states that a group of men, some of whom were armed with rifles, rushed Mr. Michael Collin's party's motor car on the latter's arrival at Dublin and fired on Mr. Collins. The fire was returned. One man with a revolver and a bomb was captured. The assailants also disabled and captured another headquarters car.

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Belfast, April 15.—Two British warships have arrived at Lough Willy in the northwest of Londonderry. This is interpreted as a precautionary measure owing to the tense situation in Ireland.

Dublin, April 15.—Mr. de Valera today issued the following message to the young men and women of Ireland: "Young men and young women, Ireland's goal is at last in sight. Stand together; step forward. Ireland is yours for the taking; take it."

INTERNATIONAL INSTITUTE HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the International Institute was held on Saturday, when officers were elected and matters affecting the work of the institute came up for consideration.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Dr. Gilbert Reid, director-in-chief of the corporation; John Gilbert Reid, secretary; Wang Yi-tang, treasurer, and the following as Trustees: Chung Mun-yew, Hah Shao-fu, George R. # Would Use Boxer Fund To Educate Chinese In Britain

(Reuter's Service)

London, April 17.—Mr. Chua Sin-kah, in a letter to the Times from Christ's College, Cambridge, suggests that the Boxer Indemnity could be utilised to the mutual benefit of Great Britain and China by Britain remitting it if applied to encouraging and aiding Chinese students to come to Great Britain, thus following the example set by the United States.

Mr. Chua dwells on the commercial and other advantages therefrom and points out that while over 2,000 Chinese are studying in America there are only 200 in Britain. In support of his argument, Mr. Chua submits that the United States, in a few years, will seriously challenge Great Britain's present premier position in the economic field and that China will be a heavy buyer in the world market once she is past her present transition stage.

NINE PONIES OF 'FIELD' STABLE WIN PLACES AT KIANGWAN EASTER MEET

Dallas Thrown And Badly Shaken Comes Back With Remarkable Riding

An unusually excellent program of races which included a number of remarkable individual performances was provided yesterday for one of the biggest crowds of the year at Kiangwan. With a cool breeze out of the northeast the weather was even better than that of Saturday, the first day of the meeting, and the course was hard and fast.

Mr. Henry Morriss' stable of 'field' ponies made an altogether remarkable showing, for with entries in nine of the eleven races of the card the stable scored nine placed ponies, three firsts, three seconds and three thirds. Winners were Pennyfield in the third race, Patsfield in the fifth race and Chatsfield in the eighth race. Nunsfield ran second to Patsfield in the fifth race and the other two second places were taken by Litchfield in the sixth race and Harefield in the eleventh race.

Lichfield finished third behind Letchfield in the sixth race and the other thirds were taken by Crowfield in the seventh race and Petersfield in the ninth race. With the exception of Harefield in the eleventh race, ridden by Mr. Zellensky, the other eight 'field' ponies that placed were ridden by Mr. Morriss and Mr. A. J. Heard.

STEEPLECHASE THRILLS

In a day of exceptional performances easily the most thrilling contest of the program was The Easter Steeplechase, the fifth race with a spectacular finish that was fought out to the final yard. In this race the pony Keysoe with Mr. Harper up set the pace for the field of six starters from the start and held the lead for all but a few hundred yards of the course of two miles.

As the leaders came opposite the grand stand with Keysoe still leading, Patsfield, ridden by Mr. Morriss opened up a wonderful spurt and as the two ponies flashed over the final hundred yards they were going neck and neck. In the last seconds of the race Patsfield forged into first place by a head. Nunsfield, favorite, ridden by Mr. Heard finished in third place.

An incident of the eighth race, a contest of griffins, was staged by the unruly pony Pondoland, the same pony that bolted and ran away on Saturday. In the backstretch Pondoland crashed into the fence, threw Mr. A. N. Dallas and went on riderless. Though he was badly shaken up Mr. Dallas went into the next race on Shenkoland and provided one of the gamest performances seen in many days at Kiangwan.

Shenkoland got off to such a bad start in this mile and a quarter event that through the back stretch it was all of eight lengths behind the field. It remained far behind around the turn and not until the field swept into the final stretch did it slowly begin to overtake the leaders. Through the length of the stretch Shenkoland crept up foot by foot pushing through the field until it finished in second place, a scant length behind Good Time, ridden by Mr. Hill.

WINS AGAIN

Shekoland's rider, Mr. Dallas appeared again in the tenth race and rode Reorganisation into first place winning from Ohio and Pretender. This particular event proved unfortunate for about a hundred backers of the Toeg pony St. Lawrence. Mr. Haimovitch lost control of the pony at the start and after it had bolted and had been at length brought back to the starter it bolted again running half way around the course and out of the contest.

An outstanding event of the day was the remarkable return to winning form of Salvation, ridden by Mr. Knoll in the sixth race. Salvation scored a notable victory at the 1921 New Year meeting at Kiangwan on February 11, winning the Kiangwan Champions from Old Bill and The Hawk. The pony has placed several times since then, but has not won at Kiangwan. In yesterday's race Salvation won a close

ARTILLERY CO. ENDS FOUR-DAY CAMP YESTERDAY

The annual camp of the Field Artillery Battery at the Rifle Range was ended yesterday with a gymkhana preceded by a parade of the battery.

The gymkhana was held yesterday after tiffin. The sports comprised a subsection relay race with four sections competing, each with three pairs of ponies and each carrying one saddle between them; bareback jumping and wrestling competition, an obstacle race, push-ball competition, in which teams of six mounted men propelled a ball about five feet in diameter between opposite goal posts.

The Field Artillery Battery went into camp on Thursday night, and the following morning was devoted to training the new ponies for the six-horse teams in place of the four used before. On Saturday night a dinner was given to volunteer friends at which Colonel R. Marr Johnson, the Corps Commandant, presided, and in a few words remarked that he was pleased to see that the gunners had taken well to the new 4.5 howitzer.

SHANGHAI HOCKEY TEAM LOSE TO ARMY ELEVEN AT TIENTSIN BY 4-1 SCORE

Fast Mud Field Too Much For Local Players; Could Not Follow Ball

(Special To The China Press)

Tientsin, April 17.—Shanghai's interport hockey team suffered the second defeat of its present tour here today, when an eleven composed of American Army men beat them by a 4-1 score.

The game was practically a repetition of the match Shanghai versus Tientsin on Saturday when the visiting team fell away under the attack of the home players. The fast hard mud field was too much for Shanghai. They were unable to follow the ball.

The game, which was substituted for the Shanghai-North China match previously arranged for found the Army playing many men who participated in the game on Saturday. The visiting eleven played their regular team: Jones, Cobb, Tegetmeier, Faers, Harvie, Collaco, Encarnacao Morgan, Oliveira and Leitao.

THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL AND AN EXPLANATORY MINUTE

WE BEG TO RE-DIRECT PUBLIC ATTENTION TO THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL'S PROPOSED BYE-LAW RELATING TO PRINTED MATTER.

THE MINUTE

In a Minute published in the Municipal Gazette of April 13, the Council states that the Bye-law requires the registration only of PRINTERS AND PUBLISHERS and that such registration will NOT HAVE TO BE REPEATED.

INACCURATE READING

We are advised that this reading of the Bye-law is singularly inaccurate, and that it is absolutely valueless in the sense of an authoritative interpretation. The Bye-law, if passed, will be construed and enforced by the Consular and Mixed Courts and not by the Municipal Council. And the Courts must construe the Bye-law in terms of the text as passed and not in terms of a Council Minute which, in order to neutralise opposition, mis-states the real meaning of the Bye-law.

REGISTRATION OF PRINTER, PUBLISHER, AUTHOR

We have to emphasize the point that the Bye-law, as drafted, requires the registration not only of the Printer and Publisher but also of the WRITER or AUTHOR of printed matter. Read it. Registration is required of "any person who shall print (the printer).....or publish (the publisher), or CAUSE TO BE PRINTED OR PUBLISHED (generally, the WRITER or AUTHOR) any" printed matter within the meaning of this Bye-law.

NO SIMILAR LAW IN EXISTENCE

WE ARE ADVISED THAT THERE IS NO SIMILAR LAW IN EXISTENCE IN ANY COUNTRY IN THE CIVILISED WORLD. AND IN VIEW OF PREVAILING MISCONCEPTION, WE HAVE TO POINT OUT THAT ONLY NEWSPAPER PROPRIETORS IN GREAT BRITAIN ARE REQUIRED TO REGISTER, NO PRINTER OR PUBLISHER WHATSOEVER BEING REQUIRED TO DO SO.

REGISTRATION MUST BE REPEATED

We have also to emphasize the further point that the registration required by the Bye-law, as drafted, must be REPEATED every time that a new piece or item of printed matter is to be issued. Test this view by the following reading of the Bye-law:—"Any person who shall print.....or publish, or cause to be printed or published, any.....leaflet.....and shall not prior to SUCH PRINTING OR PUBLISHING have registered.....shall be liable" to a maximum penalty of $300 or three months' imprisonment.

AN OBVIOUS MEANING

We say the obvious meaning of this is that, whenever a person prints or publishes or writes a leaflet, he must, before it is issued, register as prescribed in the Bye-law. To state, as the Council Minute states, that only the printer and publisher of such a leaflet need register but once, is more to mislead than to elucidate.

UNNECESSARY AND VEXATIOUS

We contend that the proposed Bye-Law is at once unnecessary and vexatious, besides being illegal in principal and wrong in form. It is unnecessary because the laws now enforceable against the different nationals in Shanghai are fully adequate for the prevention and punishment of offences relating to seditious literature. It is vexatious because, as drafted, a printer, publisher and author must register whenever a piece of printed matter is to be issued.

ILLEGAL AND WRONG

It is illegal in principal because it is ultra vires of the "power, authority and control" vested in the Municipal Council as defined in the Shanghai Land Registrations. It is wrong in form because, dealing as it does with a matter outside the ambit of the said regulations, the proposed measure should be initiated in the form of a new regulation, which calls for the assent of the Chinese Government, and not in that of a mere bye-law which does not require such assent.

A DECLARATION

FOR THESE REASONS, WE HAVE TO DECLARE THAT THE BYE-LAW WILL BE OPPOSED BY ALL AND EVERY LEGITIMATE MEANS AND METHODS OF CONSTITUTIONAL OPPOSITION AND PASSIVE RESISTANCE.

DR. SCHURMAN HAS BUSY DAY VISITING CHEFOO

American Minister Addresses Students, Sees City, Attends Luncheon And Dinner

(China Press Correspondence)

Chefoo, April 13.—Wednesday was one of those perfect days which Chefoo experiences at this time of the year and it was a lovely morning from the weather point of view when the U.S.S. Albany with Old Glory at her stern entered the bay. Majestically the warship entered and took up its anchorage just in front of the cable offices.

The Chinese were much interested and many of them wanted to know why the vessel had arrived and to what country she belonged. Meanwhile there was a scene of animation on the Kaiping Jetty for assembled here were the officials of the administrations in Chefoo as well as a large crowd of American nationals to bid the Minister welcome when he stepped ashore in Chefoo.

Less than half an hour after the vessel had let her anchor go the Taoyin went off to pay his respects to the Minister. It must have been two hours later that Dr. Schurman and his party came ashore. They were greeted with the customary firing of crackers, regular fusillades of them being let off as the Ministerial party came alongside the jetty. Assembled here was the local Police Band and altogether the scene revealed that an event of unusual interest and importance was taking place in Chefoo. Dr Schurman went into the waiting chair and was escorted to Temple Hill while the ladies of his party were taken charge of by Mrs. Haughout.

Dr. Schurman under the leadership of Mr. Liu Tze-heng and accompanied by Mr. Lupton, the American Consul for Chefoo, first inspected the Memorial Arch and then went on to see the magnificent hospital that is worked under the direction of Dr. Hills. This is perhaps one of the finest medical institutions in this country. It is excellently equipped and possesses a staff of qualified doctors, surgeons and nurses that enables it to undertake the most difficult of cases whether Chinese or foreign.

As fine a view as could have been obtained of Chefoo was secured by Dr. Schurman from Temple Hill and then he went on to the School. The students were lined up on both sides of the approaches to the building and as the Minister passed along he was respectfully saluted by them. He was met at the gate by Mr. William Booth, the principal. He first introduced the members of the faculty to the distinguished guest and then the party adjourned to the auditorium where the assembled mass of students listened attentively to a most excellent and very practical address by the Minister. The speech was translated into Chinese by Dr. W. Elterich. Many of the students were seen to be taking notes, others were obviously getting the speech down in shorthand and it would be an excellent thing if the whole of it could later be published in the Chinese newspapers, for rarely do the students of Chefoo get such an opportunity for hearing such practical wisdom as that which the address of the United States Minister contained.

Dr. Schurman, himself a former President of Cornell University, realised the value of education but he made it distinctly clear that he does not consider education alone is going to save China or equip the students for playing the great part in their country's future that he desires them to. He urged them to apply their reasoning to their educational attainments and to see that they worked for the good of the country and its people. Dr. Schurman reassured his hearers of America's warm interest and sympathetic friendship for China in her difficulties and aspirations. Perhaps here it is safe to state that nowhere else in China has America's attitude in connection with the Shantung question been more appreciated than in Chefoo, for this port has suffered almost irreparable damage through first Germany's hold on Tsingtau and the railways of the province and then later Japan's. Chefoo would have possessed the Weihsien-Chefoo Railway but for the hindrances placed in the way of construction by Germany and Japan.

Dr. Schurman had luncheon at the Club and in the afternoon there was a reception at the American Consulate for him. This gave an opportunity for residents of Chefoo to meet the Minister and a very large number attended. But there is just one feeling of regret amongst nationals of the United States and it is that Dr. Schurman had really no opportunity for addressing his fellow nationals.

At night the Taoyin and Fusan Magistrate entertained the Minister to dinner and there he met the leading Chinese of Chefoo, the men who are heartily cooperating with the foreigners in working for the future welfare and prosperity of the port that so impressed Dr. Schurman on Wednesday. The Albany with the Minister's party on board left for Taku at midnight.

ROWDYISM AND BANDITRY RIFE AS FOOD SOARS

(China Press Correspondence)

Tsingkiangpu, Ku., April 13.—As the Spring advances conditions become more acute among the people. Prices of grain are jumping to two and a half times what they were in September 1920. The workmen's guilds are demanding and in some cases raising wages.

Just at this time the officials are raising taxes, some new exactions. There are two lakes to the East of this city in which the people have been freely fishing for generations. Last week some of the gentry bought up the fishing rights and demanded payment from every fisherman, nominally for the school fund. A mob of several hundred set upon a Mr. Fan, tore his clothes off of him, beat him and dragged him to the yamen. The Magistrate attempted to appease them but without success. His soldiers attempted to disperse the crowd and beat up eight or ten people.

— REFUSE TO DISPERSE

A large crowd then camped before the yamen doors day and night, refusing to leave till the Magistrate has settled the case. He is getting members of the Chamber of Commerce to disperse the people as he is involved by the aggressive efforts of his soldiers. Most sympathetic inquiries are being daily made for the sufferers at the local hospital. New exactions near here in the salt transportation have stirred up rowdy demonstrations among the workmen.

Some twenty dealers of speculative turn bought a lot of the reeds with which houses are built in this district. They refused to sell until after harvest and were holding at $3 a picul, three times what was asked last Fall. The whole lot went up in flames about daylight today. The loss is some $8,000. There is a restless rowdy spirit abroad and the crowd is ready to take things into its own hands. As usual it is the lack of food, or rather the lack of grain, at prices the people can pay that is making them rowdy and desperate.

BRIDE CARRIED OFF

The brigands too seem stirred to renewed activity. Robbing and the carrying off of persons for ransom goes merrily on. Indeed it seems to be bad form now in such circles to steal stock or furnishings, instead a son or highly prized member of a family is abducted and held for a fat ransom. The other day a bridal procession was attacked and the bride and the maid of honor were carried off and a big ransom is being demanded.

Business is dull, the merchants complain of slow sales. The main question is how to buy food. Chinese famine relief committees have brought in some grain and the Chinese-Foreign Famine Relief Committee is also sending grain. This, however, has not yet arrived.

FEED 20,000 A DAY

The Chamber of Commerce is conducting a soup kitchen that dispenses rice congee to over twenty thousand people a day. It is doing a good work and has undoubtedly helped to keep the peace as well as feed thousands of the poor. The crowds have been well managed and orderly so far, but lately led by some local roughs they have been getting out of hand. The management is becoming uneasy and plan closing down. It is to be hoped this will not be done as this institution is a public benefaction as far as the food is concerned.

Steps Are Taken For Weihaiwei's Return

The British Minister to Peking, Sir Beilby Alston, has addressed a note to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, asking for the appointment of a commission to cooperate with a British commission to visit Weihaiwei with a view to the retrocession of the port in accordance with the decisions of the Washington Disarmament Conference.

LIANG PLANS TO CANCEL LEAVE, OUST GENERALS

One Report Says He Will Dismiss Wu Pei-fu

(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, April 15.—According to reports, emanating from the Communications Clique, Liang Shih-yi is expected to cancel his leave of absence within ten days and to return to his post.

Peking, April 15.—Mr. Tung Kang, Minister of Justice, has withdrawn his draft proposal concerning Mr. Chang Hu, Minister of Finance. It is expected, therefore, that Mr. Chang Hu, feeling satisfied with the step taken by Mr. Tung Kang, will tender his resignation and proceed to Tientsin.

Peking, April 15.—This morning officials of the Ministry of Finance held a meeting at which they decided to go on strike. It is reliably reported that President Hsu Shih-chang has a plan to ask General Wang Shih-chen to assume the post of Prime Minister in order to bring about a final settlement to the situation.

Peking, April 15.—Chow Tze-chi and Pao Kuei-ching left here for Tientsin today at 4 p.m. The object of Mr. Chow's visit to Tientsin is to receive a medical advice from a German doctor there, it is reported, and it has nothing to do with the situation.

"A BOAT FOR CHILDREN IN A SEA OF MISERY."

Chinese Magistrate's Picturesque Description of Baby's Own Tablets.

Even in the heart of China Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy are known and prized in many homes. Magistrate Tsao Chu Lieh, of Kwangling, Shansi Province, writes concerning them:—

"My one-year old child became sick. His abdomen felt very hard and he cried day and night. I tried to cure him in many ways, but without success until learning of Baby's Own Tablets I got the right remedy. The child recovered after I had given him ten Tablets. Since then I have never failed to give him Baby's Own Tablets whenever he gets ill, and never have failed to effect a cure quickly. Baby's Own Tablets are indeed a good medicine—a Boat for Children in the Sea of Misery!"

For infantile indigestion, constipation, colic, diarrhoea, croup, colds, simple fever, teething troubles and worms Baby's Own Tablets are an unequalled remedy. They are guaranteed absolutely safe and harmless even for the youngest infant. Dealers sell them, or post free, 60 cents per vial, from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

PROTESTS AVAIL IN CASE OF NEW HAIR NET TAX

Indications Are That Proposed Export Duty Will Be Reconsidered

(China Press Correspondence)

Chefoo, April 14.—Chefoo is observing the Easter Holidays.

The protests made against the levying of the suggested tax on hair nets appears to have been to a large extent successful. What must be regarded as a letter expressing the views of the Harbor Improvements Commission appeared in the Chefoo Daily News. The writer was Mr. V. R. Fekford and after expressing the view that the proposal to place the two and one-half percent tax on the nets exported from Chefoo was not the idea of the Harbor Improvements Commission, but was the result of a resolution unanimously adopted at a meeting held on April 20, 1921, by the foreign exporters of hair nets provided that a similar tax was to be collected from the Chinese exporters of hair nets and that the tax should be withdrawn when warranted, he concluded his letter by stating that in the light of recent developments it may be well to review the whole question. This is regarded as tantamount to an announcement that the subject will again be studied. It this is done it is taken for granted that the two and one-half percent tax scheme will not be proceeded with for the satisfying reason that it would prevent the local industry from being continued. The exporters and the manufacturers would have to go elsewhere. Chefoo is not going to drive from its midst an important industry that gives employment to thousands of its population.

The China Inland Mission Schools hold their annual Spring athletic sports on Wednesday next. This is an event of unusual interest in local circles. There is always a very large gathering on the athletic field and the various events are contested in a manner that given much satisfaction. The object of the meet is the discovery of the best all-round athlete among the student body. A few years ago there was talk of a competition between the students of the C. I. M. Boys' School and those of the Temple Hill College for Chinese. A contest between the two sets of students would create great excitement among residents.

Temple Hill students were so elated at their victory over the Settlement at soccer last Saturday that the same evening they had a [illegible] fire on the hill to celebrate the occasion.

She dressed in arty-looking clothes which she said were "futuristic." She was the most rampant type of "new women." She just simply loathed men, the great, horrid brutes. She pitied any poor woman who was silly enough to fall in love with one of the odious creatures. And then—She fell in love with a fake piano-tuner. He didn't know a G-string from a pedal, but he did not know enough about a woman's heart to bring harmony out of all the discords. # SECOND ANNUAL MEETING OF OHEL RACHEL IS HELD

The second annual meeting of the seatholders of Ohel Rachel Synagogue was held yesterday morning at the new premises of the Young Men's Hebrew Association. Mr. Simon Levy, the president of the Committee, was in the chair, and there was a good attendance of members.

Before proceeding with the business of reviewing the accounts, the Chairman paid a tribute to the late Mr. Edward Ezra, remarking that the Committee of the Synagogue had lost a very valuable worker whose co-operation was an inspiration to his colleagues. He had brought to the work a great deal of sympathy and generosity, and only the Committee knew how valuable he had been to the Synagogue.

With regard to the accounts which showed a deficit of $3,557.55, the chairman said he was glad to state that it had been wiped off the slate and the coming year would not prove an anxious one. The deficit was due in a large measure to the extraordinary expenditure incurred during the year, and during the next year he expected the amounts raised by subscriptions would be sufficient to meet the year's budget.

The chairman made special mention of the work that had been done by Rabbi Hirsch, whose presence in the community was a valuable asset. He had helped to raise the standard of Jewry in Shanghai, and had done very good work. He had achieved good results and they all recognised that the task was a big one and one which required the services of an able man.

Mr. David Arakie wished to associate himself and those present at the meeting with the sentiments expressed by the chairman. There was no question that Rabbi Hirsch had done a great deal for the community, and in many respects has become a tower of strength to them.

Suggestions for the improvement of the services and the institution of a choir in the Synagogue were brought up and discussed fully. Mr. N. E. B. Ezra said it would be a great encouragement to Jewish children to attend services in the Synagogue if a choir was created, and also suggested the changing of the sermon deliverance by Rabbi Hirsch from Saturday morning to Friday evening. The matter was put to the meeting following discussion and Mr. Ezra's suggestion of Friday evening sermon every week was carried.

The chairman announced that there were six nominations for seats on the Committee, the number required being five. The following were elected: Messrs. A. Sopher, S. E. Shamoon, A. E. Moses, S. S. Judah, and D. Abraham.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the outgoing committee for the work done and to the secretary and also to Messrs. N. E. B. Ezra and D. H. Silas.

RAZOR URGED AS PEACE PROMOTER FOR JAPANESE

"Bidiem Shave" Advocated For Residents Of Hawaii

(China Press Service)

Honolulu, April 2.—A bidiem shave, "at least every other day," might assist Japanese here in fostering racial harmony with Americans, according to one of the views expressed in a symposium, obtained from leading members of the Japanese colony on the best manner of promoting American-Japanese amity, and published by Nippu Jiji, Japanese language newspaper.

K. Naito, Japanese vice-consul general, advised his countrymen to read the English newspapers, as "those who disregard American-Japanese friendship are confined chiefly to those who do not read the English papers."

Dr. Iga Mori, president of the Japanese United Association of Hawaii said that better feeling might be promoted if Japanese and American representatives of the same trade or profession held frequent meetings.

"Invest in Hawaiian industries and make American interests your interest and your interest their interest," was the advice of M. Komeya, hotel proprietor.

"Disregard suspicion toward others, narrow-minded patriotism and egotism, so commonly found among Japanese, and cultivate heart-to-heart association with Americans, based upon reason and understanding," was the admonition of S. Takiyama, consular secretary.

Dr. T. Katsunuma, honorary president of the Society of American Citizens of Japanese Ancestry, offered this advice:

"Observe the Sabbath Day. Keep your home and premises clean; shave at least every other day. The bidiem shave will keep you looking fresh and fit."

STUDENTS FROM AMERICAN SCHOOL WINNING HONORS

Pupils In Higher Institutions At Home Making Fine Records

Former students of the Shanghai American School are winning high scholastic honors in higher institutions of learning in the United States, according to word just received by the school officials here.

Mr. G. Percival Haskell, now at Oberlin College; Miss Rose Lobenstine, who is at Abbot Academy, Andover, Massachussetts, and Miss Margaret Blain, at Wellesley College, are the students mentioned.

Miss Blain, according to word received from the Dean of Wellesley, has received the "passed with credit" grade at that school—the highest grade awarded—in all of her six subjects for the first half of the Freshman year.

Miss Lobenstine during her second term at Abbot Academy received the highest grades of any girl in the school, the enrolment of which is about 190. During her first term she stood third and in her second term held first honors.

Unusual praise is accorded Mr. Haskell for his work at Oberlin, the Secretary of the school writing to Mr. W. W. Bartlett, principal of the American School here, in the following terms:

"The record made by Mr. G. Percival Haskell during the first semester of enrolment in Oberlin is one that does honor to the school that prepared him, and I congratulate you upon being able to turn out a man of his high scholarship. Mr. Haskell was number 1 in our Freshman class of 334 students. Please send to Oberlin some more students of Mr. Haskell's type."

Young Haskell was not only an honor student in the American School but was prominent in athletics, particularly on the basket ball floor. He was for a year connected with the American-Oriental Banking Corporation offices here following his graduation, and went then to America to enter college.

EASTER FIRES

Easter-time fires were few and not of serious nature. The Hongkew division answered a call at 8:40 o'clock Sunday night to a blaze at No. 2177 Yuenfong Road. The premises were well alight when the brigade arrived with valuable adjoining property endangered. The flames however were soon controlled with but nominal damage attaching to the shop in which the fire originated.

A high East wind fanned a fire at 1002 Ward Road, near Dairy Road, yesterday morning into alarming proportions. When the Yangtszepoo division arrived at 10:10 a.m., nearby householders were fearful that their premises would become ignited. Prompt work by the fire fighters however confined the blaze to the shop in which it originated, with only small damage resulting.

American I.W.W. Explains Russ Development Plan

(Chung Mei Service)

New York, March 15.—Among the plans, rumored and actual, to exploit the resources of Russia, must be numbered the fantastic one on which a citizen of the United States is now embarking. This is a plan, sponsored by the Soviet Government, to develop an autonomous industrial colony in the Kuznets coal and iron basin in the heart of Siberia. Not much had been heard about this project until recently one of the originators of the plan came back to the United States from Russia to recruit agricultural workers, miners, teachers, doctors, engineers, and other technical workers, to develop it.

His name is Herbert Stanley Calvert and he was first heard of through the publication of a pamphlet outlining the project and then he was looked up by a reporter.

Herbert Stanley Calvert, who proved to be one of the most picturesque figures that have recently come out of Russia, is an American I. W. W. He was once a football player at the Illinois State Normal University, later he became a foreman in one of Henry Ford's plants. He is a direct descendant of the Calverts who settled what is now the state of Maryland, he is thirty-two years old, and he has the spirit of a pioneer. All this was gathered by the reporter, who goes on to say that Calvert was one of those American I. W. W.'s who was just naturally drawn to Russia. He was successful in the United States, as successful as a workman could hope to be, but restlessness was in his blood and the revolution was a magnet to his soul.

It appears from the pamphlet in which he explains his present mission in the United States, that the Kuznets Basin, an area about 150 by 160 miles lying to the south of the city of Tomsk, is one of the rich spots of the earth industrially speaking, where inexhaustible supplies of coal and iron lie side by side. It was the Czar's prize concession. It is said to contain more coal than all Great Britain, a 200-mile branch of the Trans-Siberian Railway runs through it, and it was well on the way to exploitation when the Russian Revolution came.

Opportunity to develop it along non-capitalist lines was offered to the young American and a co-worker, a Dutch engineer named P. C. Ruthers, when Russia was about to offer concessions to capitalist adventurers. How about some non-capitalist adventurers? was the question asked. The Soviet had no prepossession in favor of capitalists, and if it were possible to get workers from the United States to experiment in building up industry in a non-capitalistic way, would Lenin give them the chance?

The chance that Lenin gave was was the monopoly rights for the economic development of the Kuznets coal and iron basin. Added to that according to the reporter, was a concession for a group of steel mills in the Ural Mountains, and the rights to millions of acres of priceless timber which the Soviet Government was using because it could not get coal. The "Autonomous Industrial Colony of Kuzbas" was presently formed to "supply coal for the Trans-Siberian Railway and the general needs of Soviet Russia, and to become the industrial center of Siberian economic life."

"Kuzbas (an official abbreviation for Kuznets Basin) now, is a fact," Calvert is quoted by the reporter as saying. "There is an industrially undeveloped continent over there as rich in its possibilities as was America when Columbus first came over. There is also a partially developed machine. Capitalism failed in Russia. Communism has also failed to get the machine going. Most people in America seem to assume that capitalism is the only line which progress can take. Some of us doubt that. But there is no sense in fighting over these opinions. The fact is that we have been given an opportunity to show what we can do. We intend to build a machine industry more efficient than capitalism, and if it proves to be more efficient than capitalism the world will want to adopt it.

"There will be discomforts sufficient to discourage any one except the real adventurer. Those who find luxury a necessity need not apply. There will be a good many hard years before we can think of luxury in Kuzbas and only those who are ready to build a civilisation out of the raw material can expect to get in on the ground floor. But there are such men—hundreds of thousands of them, I believe—in America. They are not only willing to work but they know how. Thy know how to work with machines, which makes each one of them equal to a regiment.

"Every worker of every grade will be guaranted a living. His house and his food and his daily necessities will be either produced directly by the colony or furnished by the Government in exchange for coal, steel, lumber and other manufactured articles. Beyond that a bonus will be given based upon his individual production. With this bonus many workers will doubtless be able to buy many luxuries. But it will be impossible to invest in the economic development of this part of Siberia. In other words no individual can be exploited for another individual's profit. Whatever profit is made will go into the machine to produce more goods by which everybody's standard of living will be raised. We will, of course, have to pay the Government tax and we will be subject to the Russian law. But we shall in all ways be as independent as any other foreign concession.

"A few Americans, including two engineers, are already working on the job. They are repairing houses and organising the initial enterprises preparatory to receiving the first contingent of colonists from America."

Why Exclude The Press?

IT is surely a sign of the times that the Ratepayers' Association has put down three resolutions for the approaching annual meeting of Ratepayers.

It shows that an increasing number of people in Shanghai are waking up to the fact that they have, so far, really had very little actual say in the running of the affairs of the Settlement, and that they wish to reform present methods in order to keep abreast of decisions and actions of the Council, and also that they are not satisfied with having a mass of indigestible matter dealt out to them once a year, and being called upon to vote before they have had a chance to assimilate it.

This feeling has evidently crystallised in the resolution which is being put forward by Mr. Holliday (himself an ex-Councillor and Chairman) that the press be admitted to meetings of the Council subject to such restrictions as hold in other cities where political difficulties are always cropping up.

That such a proposal has still to be fought for at this period makes one wonder that some of Shanghai's citizens complacently refer to it as a "Model Settlement," unless of course they are humorists, and have in mind the dictionary definition of "model" viz, "a little imitation of the real thing."

It is an axiom in all civilised countries that the press is a necessary adjunct to deliberations of Parliaments, Senates, and all legislative bodies acting for self-governing peoples; the thing is so obvious that it is an amazing state of affairs to find a large and wealthy city like Shanghai content to drift on in what is, practically, total ignorance of the action of the men it has chosen to govern it, until their decision has become a fait accompli. Given a community of reasonable intelligence, and this cannot be denied in the present case, it must be to the advantage of both the government and the governed to have the deliberations of the former before the latter.

There is a good deal of sound commonsense as well as technical knowledge of various kinds outside the personnel of the Council, and were the press admitted to meetings, this would find expression in the local organs, producing a certain amount of discussion, from which it is conceivable that the Council might find valuable suggestions, either strengthening them in a proposed course, or suggesting an alternative more likely to be for the ultimate good of the community.

There are many disabilities from which Shanghai is suffering today which might have been avoided had there been publicity in Council deliberations, and the longer the present policy of secrecy is continued the more difficulties to be faced by the community later.

Of course we have that wonderful production, the Municipal Gazette. It never fails to tell us what members of the Council and various Committees were present at meetings, and even the time of meeting; it often gives official correspondence, though not always, but the information we should like to have, is carefully withheld, e.g., we should often like to know what views on important subjects were held by various gentlemen whom we had voted onto the Council.

What objections can there be to open Council meetings? In other cities the press is welcomed; why should it be excluded here? In cases of genuine political difficulty arising out of the subject in hand, the Council could go into Committee, so the danger of difficulty arising out of publicity in this direction need not be considered.

It has been said that were the press admitted, we should be unable to get Councillors, but surely such an argument is a reflection on the character of the present Councillors; they are admittedly men of integrity and public spirit, and we do not believe them to be lacking in the courage of their own convictions, or that they would be scared out of doing public service, merely because their individual views were made public. This is an objection which if untrue (as we believe) ought never to have been made, and if true, becomes a very strong argument in favor of the open Council meeting.

Here, then, is another opportunity for the ratepayers to make their wishes plain, and the responsibility devolves on every individual voter to bring Shanghai administration more into line with that of other progressive cities.

Soviet Starts Trade With Norway Firms

Christiania, Norway, March 1, (Special Correspondence).—The Russian commercial delegation now in Norway states that the "fund of the People's Commissariat" is now beginning its operations in Norway and is ready to receive money for dispatch to all towns in Soviet Russia at the exchange which the new Russian State Bank regularly communicates. This is only the commencement of more normal and extended work.

The commercial delegation has recently been in negotiation with several of the largest private banks in Norway in reference to starting an account for the Russian State Bank and the plan has been favorably received. The Norwegian accounts of the Russian State Bank are to be based upon the sums which Russia receives from abroad for her export.

The sale of Norwegian fish to Russia since the conclusion of the commercial agreement is not generally considered satisfactory. The Russian buyer has bought about 2,000 tons of the state's salted fish in the north of the country, of the value of 350,000 kronen, and 2,000 tons salted and 300 tons fresh fish from private concerns in the same district, value about 450,000 kronen. These purchases have all been effected at prices which leave heavy losses for the vendors.

Daily Schedule Of American Tourists

London, Mar. 15.—The average daily schedule of the American visitor who comes over to see what the old country is like:

8 a.m., breakfast; 8:22½, taxicab to Westminster; 8:30-9, "do" the Abbey; 9 to 9:06. Houses of Parliament and Big Ben; 9:06-9:21, taxicab to St. Paul's; 9:21-9:44, "do" St. Paul's; 9:44-12, tour of the galleries (Tate, National and Wallace); 12:15-12:30, "Old Curiosity Shop;" 12:30-1:30, lunch at the Cheshire Cheese; 1:30-3, shopping (Regent and Bond sts.); 3-3:01, rest; 3:01-6, see the rest of London; 6-8:30, dinner with wine; 8:30-11, theater; 11, supper, night club, dancing and "so to bed" at——?

Thus ends another "durn old day" for the American tourist, who, on his return home, will ever after be an exalted person, because he has "seen London" and "knows England."

The schedule is not a burlesque one in the opinion of a number of travel bureau officials whose never-racking task it is to act as ciceroni to the great number of visitors from the United States at present in London.

"It is a fact," said an American Express Company official, "that American tourists come here after loafing from six weeks to three months on the Continent with the determination to 'do' England in a week and London in a day. The main reason for their rush is the cost of hotel rooms, which is higher here than in New York."

The American Express Company estimates that there are at present about 10,000 Americans in London.

-: Birth Control's Hunt For Sponsor -:-

BY MARY W. DENNETT
(Director of the Voluntary Parenthood League)

"Why do you Americans tolerate that preposterous Comstock law against birth control?" This is a frequent question asked by observing foreign visitors. They often add that it seems inconsistent with all they have heard about the energy and up-to-dateness of Americans. The amazement increases when it is revealed that Comstock accomplished his now notorious blunder way back in 1873, and that forty-six years elapsed before any definite sustained effort was made to have Congress correct the mistake.

During all these years the United States has had the unfortunate distinction of being the one country in the world which has attempted to keep under legal lock and key the knowledge by which human reproduction may be controlled, and it is the one country whose laws have classed this knowledge with "obscenity."

At intervals there has been protest against the laws, and increasingly all the while the laws have proved to be unenforceable. Shortly after the Federal law was passed a petition with some 40,000 signatures was sent to Congress urging repeal. But as Congress has ever found it easier to err than to acknowledge error, nothing happened.

Individuals and organisations sporadically denounced the laws during a period of about thirty years, while information, despite the laws, was more and more circulated among the sophisticated and well-to-do. Then, in 1914, Margaret Sanger made her meteoric appearance, with her vivid demand that the poor who most need instruction as to family limitation should receive it, and with her challenging slogan that a bad law is better broken than kept. Her famous Brownsville clinic for ten days survived its defiance of the law, and then she and her assistant went to jail. In March 1915, the National Birth Control League was organised. It was committed to the project of securing the needed changes in the laws, both Federal and State, and while the work it did was excellent so far as it went it did not go beyond the preparatory stages of education and agitation, except for two brief sallies to Albany to tackle the New York State law.

In March, 1919, when there was no group anywhere in the country doing legislative work, a new organisation was born—the Voluntary Parenthood League. Its first aim was based on the "eventually, why not now" idea, and Item No. 1 on its program was to go straight to Congress and get the Federal law changed; because this change will not only make the circulation of published knowledge possible all over the United States, but it will at one stroke also clear away from twenty-four States the danger that their local obscenity laws, by virtue of the Federal precedent, can be interpreted to prohibit contraceptive information.

In other words, the Federal bill is the key to the situation, the master stroke for the birth control movement, the one act which will wipe out the need for prolonged agitation. In the remaining twenty-four States local legislation will be necessary, but the force of Federal example will make that a relatively simple matter of following suit.

LOOKING FOR A SPONSOR

Do it, not talk about it, was the galvanising idea of the league when, three months after organising, it began the actual canvass of Congress. Leaders and key men in both Houses were interviewed, but chiefly in the Senate, for in that body there was a committee on health, with a physician as Chairman.

The outstanding characteristic of the majority of Congress in their attitude toward this subject proved to be their lack of antagonism. Many have shown embarrassment at first, and many have exhibited every symptom of wishing to sidestep responsibility, but it would take less than the fingers of one hand to indicate the number of those who are genuinely opposed. Some of those who began the conversation as noisy enemies have ended either with mild and open minds or as downright friends of the measure, and some needed neither explanation nor argument but promptly acknowledged the measure as sound common sense, and long over-due as well.

The initial interviews served two purposes: one to give the Congressmen a realisation that knowledge about the control of parenthood is just the same simple human necessity for all the people as it is for themselves and their own families; the other to enable us to find an advantageous sponsor for the measure.

Most members were quite ignorant as to the exact provisions of the present law and the way Anthony Comstock had originally lobbied the measure through. They didn't know that his proposition had been merely the suppression of pornographic literature and pictures from the sale of which various publishers in the seventies were making large profits, a traffic that was specially directed to college boys.

The samples which Comstock showed to the Congressmen were entirely convincing, and there was wholesale agreement that this sort of smutty stuff should not be allowed in the United States mails.

But Comstock said nothing about what else he had tucked into the bill, namely, the words "preventing conception," and when the bill came up for action in the legislative jam at the end of a crowded session it was passed on sight, few Congressmen knowing that they had thereby prohibited not only the circulation of indecent publications but also the circulation of scientific knowledge on human propagation.

Some members needed to be assured that Congress is not being asked to sanction the interference with life after it has once begun, but merely to free the knowledge as to how the starting of new human life may be controlled. This distinction relieved many Senatorial minds. A fairly frequent worry among the Congressmen has been "race suicide," but they seemed relieved when told such facts as that Holland, with its fifty-two birth control clinics and its established contraceptive instruction which has been going on for more than forty years, had—up to the war—the third highest ratio of increase in population in Europe. A somewhat common type of Senator is he who fears that making contraceptive knowledge legally accessible will result in its abuse, particularly by the young.

But he usually responds quite nobly to such queries as: "If young people are safe only when ignorant, what happens when somehow they get knowledge, as may occur at any moment?" "If American young people, as a whole, are prone to go to the devil as fast as they acquire an understanding of this subject, whose fault is it?" "What is the matter with us elders who have reared them so poorly?" "Isn't knowledge on all subjects capable of abuse, and doesn't safety lie on the far side, not on the near side, of education?"

However, the attitude of the large majority of those interviewed is fairly represented by the letter President Harding wrote when he was a member of the Senate Health Committee, in which he said, "I have not had time to study carefully the provisions of your bill, but at first reading find myself very much inclined in its favor."

FAMILY LIMITATION

The one most arresting fact which the Congressmen were asked to face, and which none could deny, was that Congress itself, like any other group of well-to-do men in the United States, already represents the achievement of family limitation despite the laws. The "Who's Who" section of the Congressional Directory does not report Congressmen with families of eight, ten or twelve. Quite otherwise.

A few weeks of quiet but energetic sampling of Senatorial opinions brought us to the point of choosing as the desired sponsor one of the only two physicians of the Senate, a man who had heartily endorsed the bill from the beginning and whose cultured dignity would insure right handling for the measure. But it took him nearly three months to reach the conclusion that he was too occupied with other important issues to do this measure justice. Even then he did not refuse, but merely said he could not yet see his way and urged that some one else be asked. This refusal to refuse has been characteristic of nearly all the fifteen Senators who have been invited in succession to sponsor the bill. All of them believed in it, but in their various ways they have "passed the buck"—some convincingly, some transparently, some gracefully, some awkwardly, but all of them insistent that it was a job better suited to some one else.

Several were "too busy"—among these was one who was not a member of any major committee, who had introduced no public-interest bills, and who, as observed from the Senate gallery, sits for hours on end in undisturbed quiet. One assured us he was "too old," another was sure he was "too ignorant of the subject—it needs a man who can give all the data in debate, as I can't." We promised him a perfect arsenal of material, all classified and condensed, but he felt sure he wasn't "equal to doing it well." Another said he was interested, but better not be the sponsor as—"well, candidly, I shall be up for re-election next year, and you see . . . ."

And still another who is considered one of the pillars of the major party in Congress, a physically big man, standing something like six feet three, announced to the relatively small woman who invited him to render this bit of public service. "Really I'd be afraid to introduce that sort of bill." On being told that he "hardly looked the part," he spent an energetic five minutes trying to blot out the picture of himself as a coward.

A RECEDING PROMISE

By the time we had secured expressions of approval or favorable inclinations from a majority of the Senate Health Committee, and the promise of the Chairman for a prompt hearing and report, we had achieved a sponsor. He was one of the two physicians in the Senate. This occurred on March 19, 1920. He agreed to introduce the bill "within a week." We urged haste, knowing the plan to adjourn Congress in the early Summer. "Give me just a few days of grace," said he. When many days had passed, so many that grace was conspicuous for its absence, we again said, "Now, please," and again he promised "soon." He steadily reiterated that promise both verbally and in writing, clear up to the end of the session, when Congress adjourned on June 5.

So the sponsor pursuit began anew, and another set of men were discovered who felt themselves "too old," "too ignorant," "too busy" and so forth. But all the while the members were acquiring a better understanding and a more obvious respect for the measure. Almost every one who was consulted responded to our suggestion that, apart from their individual views on the measure, they would do everything possible to insure for the discussion of the question in the cloakrooms, in committee and on the floor an atmosphere of dignity and seriousness which the subject deserved. An influential representative of the old guard Republicans said: "This is a new idea to me as a subject for legislation, and I must give it more thought, but I can see its social importance, and certainly I can assure you right now that I will do my utmost to see that a proper atmosphere for the discussion is established."

More and more men were found whose attitude was like that of a Middle Western leader, who said: "I see no reason why I shouldn't support it." The interview frequently developed into perfectly good 'mothers' meetings." Even the "busy" men often settled down in the big leather chairs of the Marble Room and grew domestically reminiscent. One told how he himself had been "an unwanted baby," a fourth child born when the family lived in one room, and how several of them died, and he became the main support. "And so," he said, "you see there may sometimes be a place for the unwanted ones after all." "Indeed, yes, because brave humans will always struggle to adjust and to triumph, but would you, because of that, deliberately perpetuate the ignorance which keeps on producing unwanted babies?" And he answered unhesitatingly, "No, certainly not."

The men with rural constituents have been specially interested in the need of the country people for good reliable books on the control of parenthood. The mothers and fathers who live miles from a railroad, and who find the only doctor in the nearest village unable or unwilling to give them useful instruction as to how to space their babies, are very real characters to them, and it doesn't take much argument to make them see what our Federal measure will do for these people, and how simple it will make it for them to order by mail, from book stores in the big cities, practical books by the best authorities.

The few instances of hot antagonism became more and more exceptional. Our prize enemy even became friendly enough to suggest easy ways of bringing the measure to vote. But in our first interview he had blurted out remarks such as these, gleaned from our notebook: "You ought to be ashamed, an intelligent American woman like you." "You ought to stay at home and take care of your children" (shades of the early suffrage days!). He refused to be diverted from personal abuse by statistics from the Children's Bureau about the high baby death rate where wages are low and families too large. His answer was that statistics lied and he "wouldn't read 'em." He scoffed at the idea that children needed a fair chance for education. "This education business is overdone. What children need is work." He countered all facts and all logic with "I decline to argue."

"I WILL NOT"

On being invited to read a booklet giving the main reasons for our measure he replied, "I will not. I don't need to," and he wound up with the stentorian advice, "Young woman, you better go home and pray for a clean heart." But within a day or so he sent us the following note:

"My Dear ——:

"* * * Perhaps I was a little hasty with you when you called that morning. You took me somewhat by surprise. If you should happen over this way again, and could catch me when I am not very busy, I should be glad to talk over matters with you more fully, and get your viewpoint more clearly. Yours very truly,—"

And, lo! the next time he was gentle and receptive. He chuckled over the query as to whether the farmers in his State sowed wheat as thick as the soil would hold it, and whether they planted potatoes four inches apart or over two feet apart, and if babies didn't need space just like crops. He an-

Preventative Medicine.

The tendency of medical science is toward preventative measures. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. Pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, often follows a cold or attack of the grip. The cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the pneumonia germ. The longer the cold hangs on, the greater the danger. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the first indication of a cold appears so as to get rid of it with the least possible delay. It is folly to risk an attack of pneumonia when this remedy may be obtained for a trifle.

Birth Control's Hunt For Sponsor

swered, "That's so, that's so," and presently he was advising us to get the Health Committee to commend the bill to the Judiciary Committee, which would undoubtedly act on the advice.

Our next most spontaneous and unique antagonist was one of the leading orators of the Senate, who delivered this little speech on the mere sight of our card bearing the name "Voluntary Parenthood League": "All these leagues and welfare organisations, no matter how fair they look on the cutside or how well they speak or write, are all 'Bolsheviks' at heart, and what they really want is to overthrow the Government of the United States." The mild suggestion that it might be rash to generalise brought a smile and the remark, "Why, yes, that's fair," and he pocketed the offered literature and promised to "investigate."

Speaking of "Bolshevism," here is another item from the interview notebook:

M. W. D.—"Can the country expect level-headed citizenship from the man whose maximum wage isn't over $20 a week, and whose family has increased annually for several years, whose wife is sick, and whose babies are hungry and ailing?"

Congressman X.—"No, certainly not. Those men get desperate. They are ready to take up with any wild ideas."

AND HE BEGGED OFF

It was just this point of view, plus the unemployment situation, which led one of the foremost conservatives of the Senate to consider for three weeks the sponsoring of our bill. He became convinced that "when father is out of a job is no time for mother to have a baby," and while he felt concerned that the rich don't have more children, he thought that was no excuse for victimising the poor by laws which try to keep them ignorant as to family regulation. However, he begged off from shouldering the bill, saying that he couldn't undertake it for so long that in fairness to us we should ask some one else to introduce it. He was the fourteenth Senator asked, and by that time the always sympathetic Chairman of the Health Committee said we reminded him of Diogenes, except that instead of hunting for an honest man we were merely hunting for a courageous man!

An outstanding independent of the Senate, one of the truly "busy" members, frankly explained what ailed most of them. "Congressmen are such cowards," said he. "Believe in it? Of course they do, and privately they will all say so, but that's mighty different from sponsoring the bill. I know I've been here twelve years."

Very few Congressmen have even the partial excuse of belonging to a church which disapproves the scientific control of parenthood. In this connection it is interesting to note that a Catholic member who began by saying, "Even if I had no religion at all I should oppose your outrageous idea," ended by asking for our literature and admitting he was relieved to find that we did not seem to be, as he had thought, an immoral lot who were assaulting marriage and the home; and he recognised the fact that our proposed change in the law was merely to make access to information legal, not to compel people to use it, and that therefore the charge would not be an intrusion upon any one's religious faith.

A Catholic Congressman from an industrial district, crowded with mill workers, listened soberly to the figures of the baby death rate in his home town (130 per 1,000 as compared with New Zealand's world record of 50 per 1,000). The conversation went about like this: "Suppose we look at this thing practically. Do any mills in your district raise a man's wages every time he has a new baby?" "No." "Do you see any legislation ahead that will put wages on that basis?" "I do not." "Don't most mill workers reach their maximum wage at about the age of 30?" "I should say so." "Is it fair then for the Government to deprive those fathers of the knowledge by which they can keep their families somewhere near in proportion to their wages?" He looked pained and said: "It is surely a serious question. I want to think it over."

They have been thinking it over ever since, but, the sponsor is yet to be found.

A NEW TRAIL

Last August we started an entirely new trail, namely, to take the question to Postmaster General Hays. It was a most fitting move as Mr. Hays had made public announcement that he did not believe the Post Office should operate as a censorship system and the present law regarding circulating contraceptive knowledge (Section 211 o fthe Pena Code) is a censorship law, and it applies to the Post Office.

Mr. Hays was cordial and open-minded, and said the proposition was timely, as he had himself about concluded that he ought to ask Congress to revise all the laws bearing on Post Office censorship. He asked us for a resume of pertinent data, also for samples of good books by scientific authorities, such as are circulated abroad. On being told that it would break the law (Section 211) to mail such books to him, he said: "Oh, no; I don't want to do that; don't mail them, use the express." "Can't be done," we answered "because Section 245 forbids that also." "Well, then, by messenger," and it was done forthwith.

Since then Mr. Hays has been the recipient of all manner of messages from representative people all over the country, who have urged him to make this sensible request of Congress. They have reminded him that our measure does not ask Congress for any appropriation (a great asset in these times when taxpayers are rebellious), that it has nothing to do with political partisanships that it is a great service to health that it will remove a peculiarly offensive type of censorship, and will do honor both to the country and to him. Particular attention has been called to the fact that the proposed measure provides not only for removing the words "preventing conception" from the obscenity statute, but that a new provision is added to the law providing that no printed information as to methods of preventing conception, and no ingredients compounded for the purpose of preventing conception shall be transportable through the mails or by any other public carrier in the United States except such as bear endorsement of duly licensed physicians or public health authorities.

This latter provision is to guard the public against unhealthful, fraudulent, or purely commercial methods.

This Federal act will not only make published information transportable all over the country, but in twenty-four States, with a population of over 46,000,000 people, physicians may begin at once to teach the control of conception in their private practice and in all the clinics, hospitals, dispensaries and the various health centers. It will lift the birth control movement quite beyond the agitational stage; and that is just what the Voluntary Parenthood League wants.

The Postmaster General's unprecedented opportunity for great service is well put by Mrs. Charles McCasland of St. Louis, who recently wrote to him:

It is in your power before you leave office as Postmaster General, unhampered by any political consequences, to do one great act of service to the people of the United States which will make your name and your career remembered forever with gratitude. * * * Mr. Hays, by one quiet statement you have the power to set in motion the undoing of this great wrong. You have the power. Will you also have the glory?

SOLICITED

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy and retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse. It causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria

"A medicine so valuable and beneficial for children as your Castoria is deserves the highest praise. I find it in use everywhere."
J. S. ALEXANDER, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"Have used your Castoria on various occasions in suitable cases and have found it a palatable and efficient laxative, especially in the various diseases of childhood."
CHAS. EDWARD GARDINER, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Castoria is good for children and I frequently prescribe it, and always obtain the desired result."
F. GERALD BLATTNER, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

"I have prescribed Castoria to fractious for several years. It is all right. Mothers like it, for children will take it without any trouble."
C. A. WILSON, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

"Your Castoria is a splendid remedy for children, known the world over. I use it in my practice and have no hesitancy in recommending it for the complaints of infants and children."

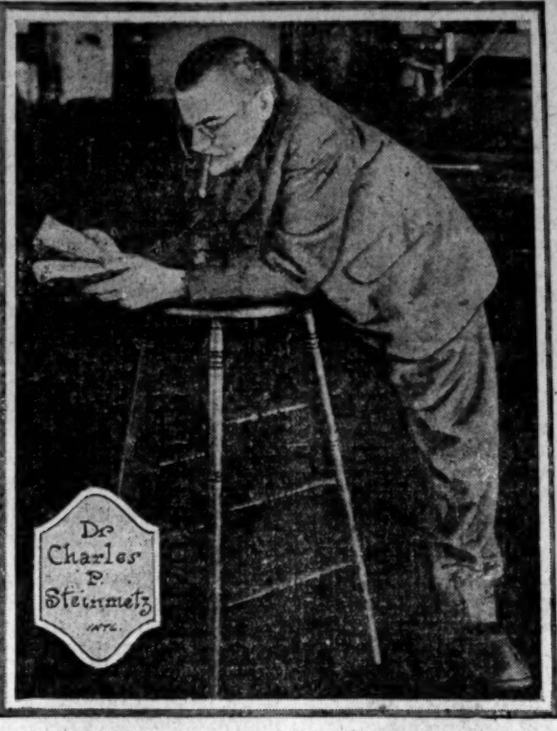
Electrical Genius Manufactures Lightning



DR. Charles P. Steinmetz, chief consulting engineer of the General Electric Company, is here shown in his laboratory at Schenectady N. Y., examining fragments of a tree-branch which had just been struck by lightning. The lightning, which damaged the branch, was manufactured by Dr. Steinmetz's lightning generator, an ingenious laboratory apparatus which stores up electric energy as thunder clouds do in the sky. When a certain over-charged point is reached—in this case 120,000 volts—the machine gives off a lightning flash which does on a small scale what natural lightning does on a large scale.

British Solicitor Guilty Of Murder

(Reuter's Service)

London, April 15.—After a ten day's trial on a charge of murdering his wife by administering arsenic, Mr. Armstrong, a solicitor and magistrate's clerk in the Welsh town of Hay, has been found guilty, and sentenced to death.

The trial caused an immense sensation, the judge describing it as the most remarkable within living memory. He ridiculed the defending solicitor's contention that Mr. Armstrong's wife committed suicide, saying that the evidence, though entirely circumstantial proved that Armstrong poisoned his wife with a view to securing the immediate possession of her property.

SAVINGS SOCIETY BARRED

(Kuo Wen News Agency)

Canton, April 15.—The Sino-French Savings Society has been suppressed by the Constitutional Government, and the French Consul General has approached the Government with a view to having it registered here.

Poland Stirred By Conference Results

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, April 10.—The results of the Riga conference have created a great deal of excitement in the political circles of Warsaw. In Warsaw it was expected that the conference would be of a purely economic character but it proved to be of a political nature. This fact is lively discussed by the Polish press, saying that the recognition of Russia by Poland draws Poland's position closer to Britain.

The ratification of the Warsaw agreement took place at a session of the Latvian Constituent Assembly. The social democrats criticised the policy of Meerovich, pointing out that the economic restoration of Latvia dictates a rapprochement with Moscow and not with Warsaw.

The Polish Minister of Foreign Affairs, Mr. Skirmund, speaking with press representatives, pointed out that the treaty (Warsaw) of Poland with the Baltic states bears no aggressive designs.

According to the French press, Rumania is going to demand from Russia the return of gold funds which Rumania transferred to Moscow during the war as well as the recognition of the annexation of Bessarabia.

STUDENTS URGE NEW BOYCOTT ON JAPANESE LINE

Manager Of Navigation Company Protests To Tokio

(Chung Mei Service.

Hankow, April 11.—Boycott of Japanese shipping on the upper Yangtsze Valley is being revived at Chungking, Szechuen Province, where the Chinese Students Union passed a resolution at a recent meeting to enforce strict measures to place Japanese ships under ban. The boycott was organised especially against the growing activities of Japanese shipping companies, the latest addition of which, the Tenyo Koyo service, has completed arrangements there to initiate regular services between Hankow and Szechuen ports, including Ichang and Chungking.

The new Japanese service, it is now reported, has decided to cancel, for the present at least, their sailings between Ichang and Chungking. During the suspension of their service, the manager of the Japanese shipping firm, who has recently returned to Japan, will present the case to the Japanese government with a view to bringing pressure to bear on the Chinese authorities to make the working of the service possible, as well as to prevent future boycott movement by Chinese against Japanese interests in China.

German merchants have recently concluded an agreement with the Chinese San Peh Steamship Company at Hankow whereby arrangements are made between the Hamburg-American Line and the Chinese company to have German cargoes for interior ports on the upper Yangtsze handled by the San Peh company.
